Six Questions to a Happier Worklife

By Marty Nemko

California career coach Joel Garfinkle suggests you ask yourself these questions: Which aspect of your job do you like best? How can you do more of that? Who in your office excels and enjoys his work? What could you learn from him? Which of your boss's responsibilities could you take on? That makes you an obvious choice for promotion. Who would you like to befriend at work? Befriend someone special at work and you'll benefit personally and professionally.

What can you do today?

Answer the above questions.
